LASIK

How does it work?

- 1 The laser is applied at predefined depth on the cornea forming a canal, a cleavage plane, and a side cut to lift the flap
- 2 A flap of precise thickness and shape is formed - now the eye is ready for the reshaping to be done with the laser
- 3 The cornea is reshaped permanently to correct the patient's refractive error
- 4 After correcting the cornea the flap is gently placed back

As one of the leading LASIK and refractive surgeons in the area, Dr. Harmon Stein has successfully performed over 20,000 laser vision procedures to treat nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism allowing patients to live without the hassle of glasses and contact lenses!
